The Value of Living in the Residence Halls

CANNING HALL

LIFE PACIFIC
COLLEGE

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

Living on campus is an experience! Each of the four residence halls houses about 80 students. Each floor is staffed with a Resident Assistant who serves as a resource for their residents, addressing emergencies, enforcing policies, and coordinating activities. Some fun activities can range from Donut Man study breaks to prayer meetings and game nights - all of which contribute to making LPC your home away from home.

LIVING ON CAMPUS CAN SAVE YOU SOME SERIOUS CASH

We compared costs of living for apartments in the San Dimas area and our residence halls and found that our students save more than $6,000 per year by living in the dorms!

The Office of RESIDENCE LIFE

The Office of Residence Life strives to provide a rich community that partners with residents in their academic success, personal development, social connection, global awareness, and spiritual growth.

Live • Learn • Lead

ACADEMIC SUCCESS

Our program will serve as a catalyst in teaching students healthy academic habits, as well as being supported in becoming knowledgeable and engaged learners both in and out of the classroom.

SOCIAL CONNECTION

In the residence halls, students will be challenged and supported in developing intentional and authentic relationships as well as an understanding of what it means to contribute to a flourishing community.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

Students will be encouraged in discovering and valuing their unique design, how to use their gifts for God's Kingdom, and how to live a life of healthy boundaries and discipline.

GLOBAL AWARENESS

We provide students with opportunities to increase their awareness of global and societal concerns, and learn how to actively respond to the needs of the local and global community.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH

While living on campus, students will continue to develop their spiritual identities and grow in spiritual disciplines.

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Living on-campus can be such a powerful and transformational time in a student's life. I truly believe that students are developed holistically when they are learning both in and outside the classroom. Living on-campus, you learn what it means to live in a rich community with other students who are going through the same journey alongside you.

Residence Life gives students the opportunity to hear and discover others' perspectives, stories, and cultures in ways that they have never experienced before. The goal for our residence life program at Life Pacific College is to learn how to live life faithfully in everything we do, no matter how big or small the task. We are committed to serving our students, no matter the cost, and helping them develop in their personal and spiritual identity.

Let's live life together!
